The main goals of the project

- Empower people to contribute “to the building and promotion of a universal culture of human rights”
- Comparative analysis of the current state of legal regulations and development of a framework for a highly academic, reflexive and well established Values and Human Rights education within public universities and schools
- Research, identify and develop good practices as reference points to apply to the whole project
- Define and develop topics to build a common core in Values and Human Rights Education in Higher Teacher Education
- Specific content development for the teaching staff according to age-groups and institutions
- Qualify the teaching staff of all partner institutions professionally and didactically
- Open up possibilities for new and necessary academic careers

Partners

This interdisciplinary international project is characterized by the participation of researchers and higher education teachers from the following partner universities and institutes:

- Universidad de Costa Rica and its Instituto de Investigación en Educación (INIE),
- Universidad Nacional de Costa Rica and its Centro de Estudios Generales (CEG), as well as
- Universität Osnabrück and its Costa Rica Zentrum (CRZ).

The external experts working on this project offer their expertise and research support from:

- German Institute for Human Rights (Berlin, Germany)
- Inter-American Institute for Human Rights (San José, Costa Rica)
- NGO Novamerica (Rio de Janeiro, Brazil).

Project Design

Wissenschaftliche Leiterin des Costa Rica Zentrum:
PD Dr. Susanne Müller-
Using
Tel.: +49 (0)541 969-4553
Fax: +49 (0)541 969-6284
susamuel@uni-osnabrueck.de
Raum: 01/307
Fachbereich 3: Erziehungs- und Kulturwissenschaften